I agree to the terms of academic honesty as defined in the College catalog and Student Handbook:

"Honesty and integrity in the performance of all academic assignments are expected of all students at Simon's Rock. Plagiarism, giving or receiving assistance on any examination or quiz, and falsifying data are serious forms of academic dishonesty. Academic dishonesty in any form will not be tolerated.

A student who submits, without acknowledgment, work that is not her or his own has committed plagiarism. An example of plagiarism is the submission of a paper that is wholly or partially taken from the internet. Plagiarism occurs even when a single sentence or phrase is copied without attribution. Information about the proper use and acknowledgment of source material is available in the library and from the faculty. Special care should be taken when engaging in research on the internet, as there are a vast number of sources that are designed to assist students in academic dishonesty, or that are otherwise unsuitable for academic pursuits. The library has resources available to aid students in finding appropriate materials through internet research. It is the student's responsibility to consult with the faculty member involved whenever there is a question about the appropriate way to handle the use of source material. An approved style manual should be consulted to avoid unintentional plagiarism.

Any act of academic dishonesty will have serious consequences, regardless of whether it is intentional or unintentional. A student who has committed academic dishonesty will meet with the instructor, advisor, and the Dean of Academic Affairs. A first offense will result in at least a grade of F on the assignment or exam in question and may result in a semester grade of F for the course. Any subsequent offense will become part of the student's record and will result in a hearing with the Standards and Procedures Committee to determine further consequences. These consequences may include academic probation, revocation of scholarship, and suspension from the College. A student who wishes to contest a judgment of academic dishonesty by the Standards and Procedures Committee may make an appeal in writing to the Appeals Committee within 48 hours of the decision."
