Self-designed Concentration in Food Studies

The Center for Food Studies is expanding all the time and we are working toward a formal concentration in the BA Program. In the meantime, students may self-design a second concentration in Food Studies in conjunction with an established concentration. Food Studies is easily paired with Cross-Cultural Relations, Geography, Creative Writing, Social Action/Social Change, or Political Studies, for example.

A sample curriculum for the Food Studies self-designed concentration might include:

During the AA
- ENVS 107m Introduction to Agroecology (2 credits)
- BIO 172 All About Food (4 credits)
- ENVS 110 Sweet History - The Science and History of Maple Sugaring (2 credits)
- ENVS 112m Apiculture (2 credits)
- PHIL 283 Environmental Ethics (3 credits)

Junior Year
- Study Abroad at Umbra Institute in Perugia, Italy (12 credits)
- Junior Year Tutorial in Food Justice (4 credits)
- GEOG 213 Global Political Ecologies (3 credits)

Senior Year
- Advanced course at Bard-Annandale (4 credits)
- GEOG 215 The Agricultural World (3 credits)
- Senior Thesis I and II (8 credits)
