Keeping the Simon's Rock Commitment and Honoring Betty Hall

"Early college" is not just a beautiful place in Great Barrington. It's a mission. More than 50 years ago, founder Elizabeth Blodgett Hall started a movement on the conviction that curious and independent adolescent students need not be encumbered by the constraints of the traditional path to college in a fast-changing world. Today, even in the midst of a pandemic that has shrunk enrollment and inflated operational costs, we are determined to honor the same Simon's Rock commitment for students who need us most in this moment by offering a safe, creative, and intellectual haven, and awarding more than $13 million in financial aid and scholarships this year.

Your support makes all this possible. If you participate in our Matching Fund Challenge and donate by November 16—Mrs. Hall's 111th birthday—your year-end gift to the College will help us reach our goal of $111,000, and will be matched by generous alumni on our board. Please consider donating today. You can donate online or by contacting the Assistant Director of the Annual Fund, Rebecca Wehry (rwehry@simons-rock.edu).

P.S. A gift of $100 or more gets you a special edition Simon's Rock tote bag; gifting $1,000 or more earns you a personalized brick in the Mods patio. Thank you for your support.

Next week students will begin to depart campus for November break and will finish the fall semester at home, online. This plan is part of our fall reopening strategy, which has resulted in ours being one of the safest colleges in the state. We look forward to welcoming students back for the spring semester, which will also be conducted primarily on-campus and in-person. View the full academic calendar for spring 2021.
